TERMS OF REFERENCE

THE BDA TRADE UNION RULE BOOK

The independent Trade Union is called The British Dietetic Association (BDA) Trade Union.

This Terms of Reference sets out the rules and procedures for The British Dietetic Association's Trade Union and its activities.

The Terms of Reference sets out in a convenient form:

- a) Rules and Principles governing the activities of the BDA Trade Union, the Employment Relations Board and its subsequent sub committees.
- b) That the Memorandum of Articles of Association are the Principle Rules governing the Code of Practice for the Trade Union and will override the Terms of Reference should any changes occur.
- c) That Council is the Principle Executive Committee of the BDA Trade Union and subsequently has the authority to overrule the Employment Relations Trade Union Board.

For the purpose of this document the Employment Relations Trade Union Board will be referred to as the TU Board or TUB.

The Sub committees of the TU Board are currently known as follows:

Scotland Employment Relations Committee and will be referred to as ScERC

Northern Ireland Employment Relations Committee and will be referred to as NIERC

Wales Employment Relations committee and will be referred to as WERC

England Employment Relations Committee and will be referred to as EERC

Health, Safety and Wellbeing Committee and will be referred to as H/SWC

Equalities committee and will be referred to as EC

1 RIGHTS, PRIVILEGES AND LIABILITY OF MEMBERSHIP

- a) A member shall comply with the Memorandum and Articles of Association and any relevant Codes of Conduct and shall not act in a way detrimental or prejudicial to the interests of the Association and its members.
- b) A member shall comply with the Terms of Reference and shall not act in a way detrimental or prejudicial to the interests of the Trade Union or its members.
- c) A member shall comply with The BDA Member's Charter and shall not act in any way detrimental or prejudicial to the interests of The Association, the Trade Union, its members or The BDA staff.

(See Appendix A this is not an exhaustive definition of members' duties but is endorsed by Council.)

- d) A member will be expected to conduct themselves in a professional and courteous manner at all times towards all other members and BDA staff as the BDA Trade Union operates a policy of zero tolerance of any form of discrimination and/or harassment. This is set out in the BDA Trade Union Code of Conduct. (See Appendix B)

2 VIOLATION OF TERMS OF REFERENCE OF THE MEMORANDUM OF ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION

- a) A member(s) who in the opinion of the TU Board disobeys or violates any of these Rules; or any Regulations made by the Council, or any instruction issued in accordance with these Rules, or is guilty of conduct prejudicial or detrimental to the interest of the Association, shall be liable to expulsion or suspension in accordance with these Rules.
- b) Members who are subject to complaint about their behaviour or activity as a Trade Union member or representative shall first be subject to investigation of their behaviour by the Investigatory Committee. All members reserve the right of appeal to Council with regard to any decisions arrived at by the Investigatory Committee. All members shall be investigated in accordance with the Bylaws of the BDA relating to the Investigatory Committee and the investigation of complaints against members.
- c) If any Trade Union representative contravenes any rules of the Memorandum and Articles of Association, Trade Union Terms of Reference or BDA Member's Charter by any act which subsequently may lead to bringing the Trade Union into disrepute in any way they shall be referred to the Head of Employment Relations and/or the TU Board who will reserve the right to withdraw any TU representative's credentials and suspend their Trade Union duties whilst due process is followed in accordance with section 2 (a) or (b) above.

3 SUPPORT OF MEMBERS

Except where Council may otherwise allow or determine a member desiring the support of the association relating to any Trade Union issue shall submit to the Trade Union Representative, the facts of the case, which, if necessary, may be forwarded to any person deemed appropriate by the Chair of the TU Board or the Head of Employment Relations.

4 EQUITY OF REPRESENTATION

A member(s) will be entitled to fair and unbiased representation, free from conflict of interest. In order to ensure the equity of representation, allocation of a Trade Union official will be at the discretion of the Head of Employment Relations and in accordance with Trade Union best practice.

Examples include:

- 1) If any member(s) has representation from a Full Time official then so will the member of the other party involved be afforded representation by a Full Time Official.
- 2) If a BDA member is involved with any issue where the other party is a member of another trade union and the other Trade Union provides their member with a Full Time Official then so shall the BDA provide its member(s) with a Full Time Official.

5 THE RIGHT TO REFUSE REPRESENTATION

The Head of Employment Relations and the TU Board (not less than a quorum of 3) reserve the right to refuse Trade Union representation to:

- a) A member(s) who is found to have violated the Rules/Regulations.
- b) A member(s) who willfully and deliberately refuses to comply with the advice given under statute law of any TU official acting as their representative and willfully goes against any such advice.
- c) A member(s) who decides to seek advice and/or representation from any external profession body other than those agreed by the BDA causing a conflict of interest with the BDA TU department. This does not preclude a member(s) from receiving representation on any other unconnected case currently running or from receiving future representation on any other issue.
- d) A member(s) who wishes to receive representation on a pre-existing case or issue which commenced prior to the date of joining the BDA. For the purpose of clarification the commencement date of joining the BDA will be deemed as the date in which the BDA sends written acceptance of membership accompanied by a valid membership number. This does not preclude a member(s) from receiving representation on any other unconnected case currently running or from receiving future representation on any other issue.

A member(s) will be notified in writing, with the reason(s) included, of the decision to refuse representation.

6 THE FUNCTIONS OF THE TRADE UNION

- a) To organise the whole of the membership in all aspects of Trade Union roles, responsibilities, duties and activities.
- b) To improve the conditions and protect the interest of the Association's members by collective bargaining, agreement, representation or by such other means of whatsoever nature as the Council and members shall in their discretion from time to time decide are appropriate for that purpose.

Council and the TU Board have the right to establish new or remove existing sub committees as it sees fit and with the approval of Council.

10 ELECTION OF BDA AREA REPRESENTATIVES

Election of all BDA Area representatives must take place in accordance with the legislation of the Trade Union and Labour Relations (consolidation) Act 1992 outlined as follows:

“A Trade Union has a duty to hold elections for every person who holds a position in the union and that no person continues to hold such a position for more than five years without being re-elected at such an election.”

This relates to “any position by virtue of which a person is a member of the executive.” Does not apply below the level of principal executive committee

The BDA Trade Union will be holding elections of its Trade Union Area representatives every two (2) years. (See Appendix J)

11 ELECTIONS OF BDA TRADE UNION REPS AND HEALTH AND SAFETY REPS

Elections of BDA Trade Union representatives and H&S representatives must take place every two years in accordance with the BDA Trade Union Representative's Handbook and in accordance with the principles of the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 outlined as follows:

“A Trade Union has a duty to hold elections for every person who holds a position in the union and that no person continues to hold such a position for more than five years without being re-elected at such an election”. Again does not apply below the level of principle executive committee.

The BDA Trade Union will be holding elections of its Trade Union and Health and Safety Representatives every two years.

(See Appendix K)

12 BALLOTS

- a) A meeting of the TU Board may, by resolution, direct that a ballot of the members of the Association shall be taken on any local or Area matter provided that notice of the proposal has been set forth on the agenda, and provided also that a majority of the Area representatives present and voting, vote for the resolution and providing the Executive, acting on behalf of the Council, of The British Dietetic Association are in agreement.
- b) A ballot of the whole membership or on a national matter shall be recommended by the TU Board to the BDA Council as the Executive Committee of the Trade Union. The Council shall decide whether or not a ballot of all members shall take place.
- c) In directing that a ballot shall be taken, a meeting of the TU Board shall have power to recommend the following:
 - i) the timescales of the ballot;
 - ii) in the case of the membership whether a member is entitled, under these Rules, to vote in the ballot;
 - iii) that the majority of returned votes will be the deciding factor.
- d) Unless otherwise directed by the TU Board at the time, the persons entitled to vote in the ballot shall be those who are full members of the Association on the first day of the month following the date on which the direction is given under paragraph 5(b) ii. of the Memorandum of Articles of Association.

(In accordance with the Trade Union and Labour Relations (consolidation) Act 1992. This paragraph will not be applied in the case of industrial action ballots.)

- e) All Ballots shall take place in accordance with the Bylaws on the administration of Ballots, which shall be agreed by Council. Where the Bylaws require interpretation (for example in the administration of local ballots), Council shall have the power to amend the Bylaws at the request of the Trade Union Board, to aid the administration of such Ballots.

13 INDUSTRIAL ACTION

Trade Union officials must comply with the law and the administrative requirements of the BDA Trade union, as set out in accordance with rule 12 sections (a) and (b).

For the BDA Trade union to support industrial action its Trade Union Officials must follow explicitly the procedures set out in the document entitled:

“BDA Trade Union procedures for the conduct of industrial action ballots”

“This Rule for BDA Trade Union officials, on industrial action ballots, has been devised following legal changes introduced in the Employment Relations Act 2004. These legal changes come into force as from October 1st 2005, except in Northern Ireland where the original law still applies.”

It covers:

- BDA procedures for conducting ballots including internal authorisation procedures.
- Changes to industrial action ballot legislation from the Employment Relations Act.
- Sample ballot papers and letters.

The only persons authorised to conduct any action, administrative or otherwise, related to industrial action, including ballots, are the Head of Employment Relations and the National Employment Relations Officers.

APPENDICES

APPENDIX A: THE BDA MEMBERS CHARTER

This Charter has been approved by the BDA Council.

The BDA has developed a Members' Charter to set out the principles governing membership of the BDA and the standards of service that members can expect from it.

Its purpose is to enshrine the organisation's commitment to its membership and to ensure that members are fully aware of what the BDA should be delivering. It sets out a means of redress if the BDA fails to meet its commitments. It also sets out the commitment each member is expected to sign up to. It will be observed by everyone in the BDA.

The Members' Charter is set out below. Our aims are to:

Inform, Represent, Protect and Support Our Members

We will:

- Treat members in a professional, courteous and helpful manner.
- Members can expect us to respect their privacy and dignity
- Ensure that personal information provided by members is treated in accordance with the Data Protection Act
- Promote and represent members, the profession and the science and practice of dietetics
- Provide fair and equal access to our services
- Listen to our members and act accordingly
- Continue to improve services that meet members' needs within the resources available
- Respond to and listen to complaints, apologise and endeavour to put things right when they go wrong
- Keep members informed through our publications, website and other communication channels
- Use BDA resources as efficiently and effectively as possible.

As a member you will:

- Treat staff and other members equally, fairly and in a professional and helpful manner
- Respect other members' confidentiality
- Contribute to BDA activities in order to advance the science and practice of dietetics to raise the profile of the profession
- Promote the profession and the BDA
- Keep yourself informed of what's going on in the BDA via the variety of communication channels
- Feedback your views, comments and tell us your views and any improvements you would like made
- Tell us if you think something is wrong and what changes you would like made to correct this
- Let us know what's going on if you represent the BDA

- Keep us informed of any changes to your personal details
- Meet deadlines for paying fees and responding to letters or notices to members
- Respect the BDA's resources and use them responsibly.

APPENDIX B: BDA Trade Union Code of Conduct

British Dietetic Association Trade Union Department Code of Conduct
